

CLIENT COMMENTS

"Ms. Shockey's professionalism, organization skills and candor in working with large groups was instrumental in creating the grass roots support to make an effective impact in this neighborhood. The good work continues by those she taught."

*— John Krueger,
Planning Director City of Leavenworth,
Kansas*

"Sheila has been an extremely valuable asset as I have worked to develop and implement new and innovative programs. She was key to the implementation of our new Watershed Program. Her public participation expertise was invaluable. Her work in preparing financial proformas and development of long-range financial needs has been a critical tool in the rollout of this groundbreaking program."

*— Ron Norris, Public Works Director,
City of Lenexa, Kansas*

"Sheila is the Henry Kissinger of her generation."

— community participant

"Sheila got a tough group with diverse interests headed in the right direction. She has the ability to boil down complex issues into easily understandable concepts. She keeps us on track and focused on our mission and objectives while helping us to build leadership and enthusiasm."

*— Stan Salva, Chairman,
Stormwater Commission, Jackson County, Missouri*

"The 'Rain to Recreation Waterfest' demonstrated how a fun event could also be used as an educational forum on important issues such as water conservation and flood prevention. This event generated interest in a public works topic that too often is relegated solely to engineers and neglected by the public. By targeting youth and adults, the project also successfully promoted the use of City park facilities."

*— Judges Comments,
2004 3CMA Savvy Awards Competition*

"Congratulations on the success of the Healthy Streams! You must be thrilled with the turnout and response. It seemed as if everyone was enjoying themselves, but also engaged and interested in the message about promoting stream health."

*— Eileen Hack,
Johnson County*

"Congratulations on a very successful Open House for the 77th and Caenen project! As expected, some of the participants arrived with very intense emotions. You and your staff did a wonderful job of remaining calm and keeping the dialogue constructive. Near the conclusion of the evening, I heard many of the participants express their appreciation for the manner in which the meeting was conducted. People were pleased that they had been provided an opportunity to ask questions and be heard. The considerable amount of thought and preparation put into this meeting was very apparent."

*— Tom Kaleko, Former Assistant City Administrator,
City of Lenexa*

"I believe our project was so successful because of Sheila's assistance. Her ability to confront difficult issues and facilitate the group to a common solution is remarkable. She is very knowledgeable about flood mitigation issues (our biggest concern). I highly recommend Sheila!"

*— Marsha Bagby, Former City Manager,
City of Kinsley, Kansas*